

5D ENTREPRENEUR'S GUIDE

PRESENTED BY NETG

Entrepreneurship in 5D

- * Having 5D business guides and mentors
- * Building the company energetically before physically launching the business.
- * Encouraging a daily practice to be a vibrational match to the new business.
- * Building a concept vision of the Business.
- * Fully launching the business.
- * Keeping your Business in Integrity

5D Business Guides and Mentors

5D Business guides will volunteer to be energetic partners with the aspiring entrepreneur. They have both experience and understand energy, intent, & vibration.

They help to guide the entrepreneur step by step, hold space for the creative process, & provide guidance when needed.

They help the entrepreneur step into his/her divine intention for the business and to become a vibrational match to that intention.

The role of the business guide is not to give advice. The role is to consciously listen to the entrepreneur as well as to their own inner guidance and ask questions.

The goal is to have the entrepreneur discover the answers from within.

5D Business mentors assist the entrepreneur with the actual mechanics of launching a business but do not control the process of it.

Business mentors will have prior business experience and will understand what is needed in 5D to bring the new business to life.

At some point in the future, business guides and mentors may not be required although business guides may be requested.

Building the Energetic Foundations First

In 5D, we want to encourage the aspiring business owner to create the business on paper, video, audio, electronically, etc., before physically creating it.

The energetic building of a business is more important than the physical aspect as this is your true foundation.

The best way to begin is by first writing down the intent of your business. The intent should always be as a service to humanity, to heal, to bring joy, & to expand.

Then the business owner can create a business map. These are the steps needed to bring this to life, as well as the abundance required.

Becoming a Vibration Match to Your Vision

We would encourage business owners to organize the vision for their business in such a way that they are aligned with the big vision of their business.

Align your frequency with that of abundance, joy, service, creativity, etc.

If there are any fears, belief systems, self-limitations, doubt, or scarcity programmings, these will be worked through first. Dissolving all EGO frequencies is essential before beginning any business, or else the EGO will hijack the process.

The future business owner should also be alerted to synchronicities that will most likely be happening with increasing frequency. He/she should be on the alert for inner guidance and wisdom and to record anything that comes to heart during the creative process.

● If at any time the entrepreneur starts to doubt or feel anything other than a high vibrational emotion, it will be key to meet with the business guide to help work through those low-vibration emotions.

This will help the entrepreneur to develop/strengthen their own intuition and guidance system so that there is full trust in self & Source.

Building a Concept Vision of the Business

Once the business can be fully visualized and the entrepreneur is a vibrational match to the vision, the next step would be to launch a concept vision of the business to gain feedback and to understand what they don't know about running a business or issues related to their product or service offerings.

- For example, a person may want to open a business where he/she sells organic cold-pressed drinks. Before opening a storefront and investing in equipment and furnishings, the entrepreneur might want to first test the idea at a farmer's market. He/she can experiment with different combinations and flavors to determine which are most preferred. He/she will gain experience in who are the best providers of ingredients and where to get supplies.

The biggest asset to a new business owner is experience. You always want to begin with what you have first. Do not rush into thinking you have to invest or have large amounts of money, equipment, staff etc.

Wisdom can only be gained through experience and perceived "failures", which are all really lessons and blessings.

Start with what you know & what you have to work with. Begin by focusing fully on the creative/developmental process of your product or service and share it with others! Money is never the focus, the focus is to give and be in service and this will provide you with your greatest feedback and also connections.

The entrepreneur should continue to meet with the guides and mentors, share ideas & continue to adjust, expand, and grow throughout the developmental phase.

Fully Launching the Business

In many cases fully launching the business will just be a natural progression from the concept phase.

Many things will be learned during the concept phase and people, ideas and resources will organically align.

It will be key for the entrepreneur to maintain his/her vibration and intention and not get too caught up in the day-to-day opportunities and challenges of the business.

New or additional advisors and mentors may be needed as the business evolves.

The key during this phase to leap in full faith, trust, and to stay aligned with the intent of the business, not focusing on the external view of "success."

Staying in Integrity

If we stay aligned to our original intent & passion of our business, we will always be successful and fulfilled. The issue with 3D business is the over focus on profit and over expansion.

When 3D businesses are focused only on the external, it causes the integrity of the business to drop and it can expand too quickly which becomes both unsustainable and out of alignment. This inevitably leads to taking energy rather than giving energy.

Your greatest tool as a business owner is to keep your focus on your self-development & evolution, to always continue to expand your craft, being willing to change and try new things, & to always focus on soul fulfillment rather than EGO fulfillment.